In Memoriam. CARRIERE. In tenderest remembrance of M. GERTRUEDE CARRIERE, who departed this life one month ago today, March 4, 1904. Our sweetest illusions only die, Beautiful flowers wither and decay; But my memory will always live To her who has passed away.

FRAZIER. Sacred to the memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. L. FRAZIER, who departed this life four years ago today. Four years ago, mother, dear!
Your love for us was so free,
Your advice so sweet;
And love bids us look above.
Though you have said farewell to earth,
Yet we are living in love.

YOUR DEVOTED DAUGHTER, K. G. SEA NIXON. In memory of BURRELL NIXON, who died two years ago today.

Gone, but not forgotten. BY A FRIEND. SIMMS. In loving remembrance of my dear hubband, GENOVER SIMMS, who died one yes ago today, April 4, 1903. Sleep on, dear husband, Take your rest. God called you home— He thought it best. BY HIS WIFE, CARRIE SIMMS gram also included soprano solos by Masters Carter Darrow and Raymond Tompkins, soprano soloist of St. John's choir. The playing of duets on the organ is a novelty in this country. It is said to be common enough in Europe, but is seldom heard here. The scores for the program given at St. John's were imported especially for the recital. The first number was the Volkmar Sonata arranged for four hands. The composition was very long, but was never tiresome. Mr. Freeman played for the most part the parts which required pedaling. The remainder of the program included Adoremus, by Ravina; the Volkmar Andante in E flat; Nachtspiel opus 232; the intermezzo from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana," and Tonking's Festival March. Master Darrow sang Leslie's "Come Unto Me" and Master Tompkins sang Abbott's "Just for Today." Both the solos were well sung and were very acceptable. TIBBS. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear aunt, MINNIE HAWKINS TIBBS, who departed this life two years ago yesterday, April 3, 1902.

Two years have passed and still I miss you, auntification may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
That's within my heart concealed. ANNA TUBMAN TIGNOR. In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, LILIAN G. S. TIGNOR, who departed this life four years ago today, April 4, 1900.

She was a treasure in my bome,
A sunlight in my darkest hour.
When God saw fit to bid her come
I bent unto His supreme power.
Her's eternal joy above,
From care and sorrow free;
She won her crown, laid down her cross,
To dwell, dear Lord, with Thee.
